

Performance Management Plans

This functionality enables organisations to set, agree and review objectives agreed by a manager and employee. All within a specified performance period. As the Performance Management Plan concludes an appraisal can then take place. This function can also be used during probation period for new starters and unsuccessful pay progression meeting.

What are the Benefits?

Time Saving

- Performance Management Plans can be shared with all employees at the same time.
- Managers and employees can update objectives.

Individualised Performance Management Plan

• Individual objectives can be created by the manager and the employee.

Efficiency

- Organisation objectives can be viewed by all employees.
- Organisations can have more than one Performance Plan available.

Reporting and Monitoring

- Once the objectives have been agreed, they can be tracked through the Workface Hierarchy.
- ESR BI Reporting functionality is available .

Performance Management Plans

Organisational Requirements

For Performance Management Plans to be implemented in ESR, Manager and Employee Self Service functionality has to be implemented. All Performance Management Plans are dependent on a robust and up to date workforce hierarchy.

Points to consider

- Does your Organisation have organisational/business objectives. If not, managers will be required to create objectives.
- ✓ Will your Performance Management Plan include an Appraisal.
- ✓ Do you have different appraisals for different staff groups.
- ✓ Do you have an Appraisal process in place with agreed documentation i.e. set questions, branding.
- ✓ What is your current process for supporting new starters and their probation period.
- ✓ What is your current process for unsuccessful pay progression.
